

The city of Los Angeles records are not correct and very inaccurate. There are number of pictures indicating that the first floor was always a place of business. This is a picture when it was a plumbing store.