

Challis Macpherson

---

From: murez@venice.net
Sent: Sunday, September 02, 2007 8:36 AM
To: Jed Pauker
Cc: stewart.oscars@gmail.com; challis.macpherson@verizon.net
Subject: Re: The Race Between the Cart and the Horse

So should we protest until affordable hosing is tied to parking and assume the poor don't drive? I think we might be better off to support no parking for commercial projects when public transit and public parking structures are available. I for one would hate to have to walk a mile with food from the market because the metro station has no parking for my last mile.

Thanks for sending this, perhaps we should take up writing a letter from LUPC.

--Jim

----- Original Message -----

From: "Jed Pauker" <jed@jed.net>
To: <challis.macpherson@verizon.net>; <murez@venice.net>; <stewart.oscars@gmail.com>
Sent: Sunday, September 02, 2007 9:10 AM
Subject: The Race Between the Cart and the Horse

> Brown Act-approved!
>
> Here's the latest on parking according to the LA Weekly:
>
> <<http://www.laweekly.com/news/news/take-this-car-and-shove-it/17106/>>U
> nbundle
> and conquer.
>
> Enjoy,
> Jed

---

But Mgmt Practice